Highland Christian School Brand Story

What do you want to be when you grow up? Nurse. Policeman. Pilot. Baseball player. Mom. Missionary.

The dreams of children are precious...and they begin to capture the deepest parts of who we are.

But something happens when we grow up.

Society teaches us that our value shifts from who we are to what we can do.

Doing becomes our sole identity.

And the more you do, the more valuable you become.

How can we prepare our kids to live in this world where values are twisted?

How can we help them see that doing alone will not bring meaning or purpose?

How can we show them that who they are is the springboard that will launch them into the future, no matter what they choose to do?

Highland Christian School is passionate around providing answers to these formative questions.

Sure, we teach your children what they need to know, but we don't stop there.

We teach them how to be.

HCS teaches kids how to filter through the mixed messages they receive from society by individually fitting each child with a lens from which to view life: the lens of Jesus. This biblical worldview serves as the foundation for everything we are and everything we do at HCS.

There are other things you can expect at HCS: academic excellence, the latest technology, exceptional facilities, an outstanding staff and a community of parents, grandparents and friends coming together to express a distinctive Christ-centered education.

It's a community experience that provides protection, education and empowerment for kids...expressed by the simple commitment of being there...all along the way.

Being there to awaken each heart.

Being there to embrace each individual.

Being there to ignite each mind.

Being there to shape each character.

Being there to teach each child how to be.

Being there for each.
